

Main purpose of providing detecting and locating functions for test instruction or during the processing of various manual machine tools of different types